

Cherie DORI BRACELETS jewelry

Drawing inspiration from these influences, contemporary Israeli designers combine old-world craftsmanship with leading-edge technology.

Israel is a country of contrast and convergence: an intersection of cultures and the crossroads for trade since the dawn of time. Ancient traditions thrive within modern life. Today camels are juxtaposed with jets and ancient texts are explored as fervently as the frontiers of modern science. The wisdom of the ages provides a solid foundation for innovation. This is fertile ground for creative minds.

Drawing inspiration from these influences, contemporary Israeli designers combine old-world craftsmanship with leading-edge technology.

Nelly Cohen, a graduate of Haifa University with a Masters in Art and Modern French Poetry taught art at Yancodada Museum in Ein-Hod, Israel. Nelly, with her husband Simon, started the Cherie Dori Collection.

The fruits of these artists efforts are meticulously crafted in 14k and 18k gold. Their sophisticated, clean, modern designs reflect the ancient knowledge of geometry, proportion, and aesthetics. Timeless beauty is revealed in a fresh new way.
